AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

1. (Currently Amended) A multi-compartment shooting case comprising:
  - a first compartment sized to accommodate at least one of a rifle or a shotgun;
  - a first lid attached to the first compartment and movable between an open position allowing access to an interior of the first compartment and a closed position for enclosing the interior of the first compartment;
  - a second compartment;
  - a second lid attached to the second compartment and movable between an open position allowing access to an interior of the second compartment and a closed position for enclosing the interior of the second compartment; wherein each of the lids can be opened and closed independently of the other lid and when the two lids are in the closed positions, the interiors of the first and second compartments are sealed and isolated from one another to prevent contents from one compartment entering the other compartment
  - a main body; the first and second compartments being incorporated into the main body;
  - the first and second compartments being positioned on opposite sides of the main body;
  - a third compartment positioned on the same side of the main body as the second compartment; and
  - a third lid attached to the third compartment and movable between an open position allowing access to an interior of the third compartment and a closed position for enclosing the interior of the third compartment; wherein the third lid can be opened and closed independently of the other lids and when the lids are in the closed positions, the interiors of each of the first, second and third compartments are sealed and isolated from one another to prevent contents from one compartment entering the other compartment;
  - wherein the first compartment runs substantially a length of the case and the second and third compartments combined run substantially the length of the case.
